SINT EAST BY MISSIONARY UNION.

Committee Reports That it Has Sent a Statement of Present Conditions -Missionary Union Meeting.

The Missionary union of Salt Lake WALKER SITE CONTEST held its semi-annual meeting in the First Methodist church yesterday and CROSSED PLAINS AND FOUGHT last night, three sessions being held REPUBLICAN PARTY MAKING A during the day and evening. The meetings were well attended and proved of much interest to missionary

The morning session was then adjourned, and those present repaired to the fir floor of the church, where the ladies of the church served a splendid dinner to the delegates and their friends. About 150 people were at the tables. The afternoon session opened with a song service, after which the following interesting programme was renroung manhood he soon showed that his was an arm to rely ou, that his courage was steady and unfaltering and his capacity for privation equal to that of the most robust.

A number of times he was called on to make the long journey back to Missouri to meet parties of emigran's and to conduct them to the promised land.

Many times the parties were attacked by bands of hostile Indians, and then it was found that young Miller, though a man of peace, could shoot when the occasion warranted it, and shoot straight.

Mr. Miller was born on Buck creek, in Missouri, about 100 miles from Nauyoo in 1844. His parents had already emphraced the Mormon faith, his father being Reuben Miller, one of the first bishops of the church. The Miller family did not join the first company of emigrants that made their way to Utah, Two years later, however, the father and mother decided to join their fellow churchmen out here, and, with their little calldren, they joined an emigrant party.

WOLTER'S "JOKE."

Nebraska Man Explains His Letters to Kearns.

(Omana Bee.)
Word has reached the postoffice authorities at Omana that Ernest J. Wolter, the merchan of Schuyler, Neb., who was recently arrested on a charge of attempting to extort money from Senator Kearns of Utah, has admitted to Inspector Sullivan of Denver that he wrote one of the van of Deaver that he wrote one of the threatening letters received by the senator, but that he still insists the entire scheme was the result of an attempt to be funny. He says he wrote the letter to please a traveling man who had recently sold him a bill of goods, and with the understanding that it was to form the foundation of a practical loke.

Since his arrest Wolter has disposed of his stock of goods at Schryler to F. Fronf, his brother-in-law, for $3.000. His liabilities are said to have been $5,000. This sale leads the citizens of Schryler to believe that Wolter intends to leave that town as soon as his troubles with the government have been settled.

Hard Fight to Straighten Out Clerks' Fees.

BAD RECORD.

D. C. Dunbar returned home yesterday morning from the east, where he had been making a prolonged stay, most of the time in Washington, D. C. His chief business in the east was to secure a settlement by the government of the matter relating to the fees meet the objections of Tracewell, and just squeezed through in the last hours of congress. This simpley provides for the settling with the clerks who served in Utah on the same basis as settlement was made with the clerks of the rest of the country. I never worked harder in my life on any proposition and am naturally glad that the matter is settled."

Exposition Commissionership.

Exposition Commissionership.

Mr. Dunbar was asked as to his candidacy for the appointment as one of the commissioners of the St. Louis fair.

"Oh." he said, "there was not much to that. Judge King kindly suggested that I enter the race as there was no candidate from the Rocky mountain region. Congressman Tawney, who is a social friend of mine and who was chairman of the committee having that matter in charge, informed me that it was President McKinley's intention to distribute the nine commissioners over the country and appoint five Republicans and four Democrats, and he thought this section of the country thought this section of the country would get one of the places. On this understanding I consented to be a candidate, and Judge King succeeded in securing endorsements for me from most of the congressmen and senators. I had many other strong endorsements, but on the day that my papers were sent to the president I learned that ex-Senator Carter of Montana was out for the president and the senator carter of Montana was out for the president and the senator carter of Montana was out for the position, and I knew that I had no chance against him and paid no more attention to the matter."

As soon as the young man arrived at az age when he could be of service to his people he took up the farming industry near what is now Mill Creek. This pursuit was interrupted from time to the by the trips across the plains already referred to, but he soon built up a competency. Of late years he had become heavily interested in sheep, being a partner in the firm of Miller Brothers, whose flocks range on many a hillside of the state.

Some months ago Mr. Miller became afflicted with a stomach trouble. It was thought to be a trifling matter at the time, and, indeed, up to a few days ago. Only a few days ago was out ard around, apparently as well as usual. On Saturday, however, his allment grew suddealy worse, and he was compelled to take to his bed. JOHN BURTON'S FUNERAL.

Deceased Was Well Known and Popular Citizen. John Burton, who died at his home 446 West Seventh South street, Wednesday night of smallpox, was buried in his family plot at the city cemetery yesterday morning without ceremony such as would have marked the solemn occasion had the cause of his death not been of such a character. His wife and two of his children have had the disease, but the two other children are still stricken with the malady.

Mr. Burton was highly esteemed among a large circle of old-time acquaintances, many of whom had known him from boyhood in this city, the place of his birth. He was a member of the Veteran Volunteer Firemen's association and during the administration of Mayor Clark was a deputy watermaster. Besides his widow and four children, the deceased leaves four brothers and two sisters, residing in the southwestern part of the city.

Instead of leaving his family in straitened circumstances, as was stated in yesterday's paper, Mr. Burton was possessed of a home and two nesday night of smallpox, was buried straitened circumstances, as was stated in yesterday's paper, Mr. Bur-ton was possessed of a home and two

JAMES REID IS ILL.

Was Identified With Morse Inventor of the Telegraph.

New York, March 28.—James Reld, 82 years old, known to telegraph men throughout the world as "The Grand Old Man," is dangerously ill in his home in this city. He was operated upon last Friday for the removal of a tumor. Soon afterward the physicians performed afterward the physicians performed a second operation for the removal of a small inner cancer. The patient, since the second ordeal, has been very weak.

Mr. Reid was identified with the inventor of the telegraph, Morse. He was born in Edinburgh, and emigrated with his parents to Toronto when he was 16 years old. He worked in a Rochester (N. Y.) bank, and hearing talk of the invention of the telegraph, became interested, and joined fortunes with Morse. He went to Washington, and afterward opened the first commercial telegraph office ever conducted in Pittsburg. He was United States consul at Edinburgh under the first Geveland administration and also under General Harrison. Cleveland administration and also under General Harrison.

He came home from Scotland last fall.

Mr. Reid has for years been a figure at conventions and other places where persons interested in telegraphy have congregated.
